

COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE ASKED TO ATTEND MEET

Big Meeting of Farmers' Union on Co-operative Marketing to Be Held Here Next Saturday—Commissioner W. C. Hanna Invited.

On next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock a meeting will be held at the court house, Maysville, Ky., of all those interested in the formation of a co-operative marketing association for the selling of cream and poultry and eggs.

Plans of organization and contracts have been drawn up by the Kentucky Farmers Union for such associations. These contracts embody all that is best in similar associations from Massachusetts to California. They have been passed upon by the foremost legal and co-operative experts in the country and pronounced as being the best ever drawn up.

While these associations are primarily for the benefit of the Farmers Union members arrangements have been made whereby those who are ineligible for membership in this great agricultural organization can join the co-operative marketing associations.

Every man, woman and child who is interested in cows or chickens should attend this meeting as it will be of vital value to all.

Everybody in the city or county is invited and urged to come.

There will be good speeches by prominent men in agricultural activities.

Mr. W. C. Hanna, State Commissioner of Agriculture is very much interested in the work and has been invited to be present.

This is a movement organized by producers to make better returns for themselves and also give the consumer dairy and poultry products of better quality.

It is the first movement of its kind ever started in Kentucky and the people of Bracken, Robertson, Fleming, Mason and Lewis counties are especially urged to attend the meeting next Saturday afternoon.

REAL WORK BEGINS AT NORMAL SCHOOL.

Real class room work began at the Mason County Normal school being held in the High School building Tuesday morning. All of Monday was spent in enrollment and attending to the many little details which arise at the opening of a school of this sort.

Indications are that Mason county is to have a most successful normal school this year with a very large enrollment and much interest manifest.

Officials have considerably tightened up in the past few days and other sensational developments are expected in the near future.

SALVATION ARMY SERVICE FUND DRIVE BEGUN HERE TODAY

People of Maysville and Vicinity Are Given an Opportunity to Contribute To Financing Good Work Being Done By the Army.

When it is considered that the Salvation Army care for thousands of infants in its nurseries who know neither father or mother and never will, one can readily see the work that confronts the Blue Bonnet nurses. We might ask: "Where do they come from?" Cities and towns.

Imagine the milk, clothing and necessities it takes to save the lives of these little ones. This is done by the Blue Bonnet Lasses for the sake of humanity. That is but one instance of their work. There are thousands living in tenement houses, cellars and attics in these hot days while the more fortunate children have every comfort.

Never Overlooks Them. The army does not overlook them. They overlook no one that is needy.

The cares of the Army are many fold. Because of that their labors are never through. They are always alert to help, to cherish, to make happy. Because of present conditions their work has been tripled, yet they never show the least inclination to shun humanity.

Open at All Hours. The citadels are open day and night for those who are seeking a night's lodging. Some need clothing, food, and other necessities. And they get it with a willing hand, a real welcome.

The Army is also a detective in locating missing people through the War Cry. It also reconciles separated couples. It visits jails and penitentiaries where it holds services and at the same time shows the inmates right from wrong. The worst types of criminals look up to the Salvation Army Lasses. They would fight for them if need be. They look for them on Sabbath days. Join in with prayers and songs. These same Lasses have made men out of drunks. Today some of them are professional men, mechanics and the like.

Many Are Saved. Statistics of the Army show that many a woman who had fallen is now the mother of a family and happy. And for the sole and only reason that the Blue Bonnet Lasses knew she could be saved.

Poverty and Misery. The misery, poverty and the suffering that confronts the Salvation Army is hardly conceivable. But the army backs away from none of it. It acts quickly.

While the suffering now is not as intense as the wintry blasts, yet the demand for funds is great as told above. No matter how cold, rain, snow or sleet or at what hour of the night, if there is a call for help the army is on its toes.

And the same holds good in floods, cyclones, epidemics and catastrophes. Always to the front like they stood shoulder to shoulder with our soldier boys.

Can We Refuse? Consider what they do for the poor on Thanksgiving and for the poor and their children Christmas days. Make many souls happy. Consider what they are doing today. Can we refuse their appeal that is now before you?

KENTUCKY REPUBLICANS ENDORSE ANTI-LYNCHING BILL

Republican State Central Committee Adopt Resolutions Urging Passage Of a Federal Anti-Lynch Law.

At a meeting of the Republican State Central Committee held at Louisville, Kentucky, on June 14, 1922, Hon. Ed Chenault, colored member of the committee, made a very impressive talk on the subject of lynching. His remarks were temperate but earnest. He cited recent hangings and burnings of members of his race and deplored the fact that these crimes of mob violence usually go unpunished.

At the conclusion of Mr. Chenault's talk, Hon. T. N. Hazell, member of the committee from the First Congressional District, offered the following resolution which was unanimously adopted:

"BE IT RESOLVED by the Republican State Central Committee of Kentucky: "First, that this committee favors the adoption by the Congress of the United States of a national anti-lynch law.

"Second, that the secretary of this committee send a copy of this resolution by mail to Kentucky Senators and Representatives in Congress."

The young couple left, for the north, immediately after the ceremony.

The bride is the charming daughter of Mrs. Phoebe Arthur and is a very accomplished young lady of many pleasing qualities, while the groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Everett, is one of the city's most promising and most popular young businessmen.

Their many friends join the Public Ledger in wishing them much happiness.

MUSIC RECITAL IS ATTENDED BY BIG AUDIENCE

Many Enjoy High Class Program Rendered By Miss Lida Berry's Pupils In Annual Recital on Monday Evening.

A large company of parents, friends and music lovers assembled in the American Legion building Monday evening to attend the annual piano recital given by the pupils of Miss Lida Berry. About twenty young people took part in the program which consisted of selections not only suited to the ability of each performer but a class of music much above the ordinary. It was a program to be enjoyed by all lovers of good music. It is always a pleasure to one who has attended recitals for several years to note the progress made by pupils. And it does not take long to pick out those of exceptional musical talent. There are many such in Miss Berry's class. It speaks well for Maysville that so many of her young people are taking such an interest in music. And to those who love the piano it is indeed fortunate to have a teacher such as Miss Berry who is able to develop the musical talent of our young people to such an extent. Those who heard the program Monday evening will agree that Maysville has many prospective piano soloists in the making.

A special number not announced on the program was a very pleasing solo sung by Miss Corrine Arthur. This was a very acceptable addition to the evening's enjoyment and fully appreciated by all.

BRINGING LOST TO A SAVIOR IS DISCUSSED

Evangelist at Tent Meeting Stresses the Activity of Christian in Saving Others From Their Sins.

"Bringing the Lost to Christ," was the topic of Evangelist Howard's sermon Monday evening. His text was taken from Matthew 2:5, "When Jesus saw their faith He said unto the sick of the palsy, Son thy sins are forgiven thee."

Evangelist Howard said in part: "Every truly saved man has an ambition to bring the lost to Christ. If you do not have a desire to see souls brought to Christ, it is a pretty good evidence that you are not saved. Jesus saves us in order that we might help to get somebody else saved.

"Jesus Christ is an intercessor tonight, interceding at the right hand of the Father, not for the lost, but for Christians. So we as Christians must be the intercessors for the unsaved. Your salvation began through the faith of somebody else. Somebody prayed for your salvation and so God is expecting us as Christians to pray for somebody else. So let us ask ourselves the question, what can we do in this meeting to help bring souls to Christ."

This stirring message touched the hearts of many Christians who attended the service Monday evening. You are missing a great treat if you are not attending these tent meetings.

Services at 3 p. m., and 7:30 p. m. Come, and bring somebody with you.

ANOTHER LEGACY

President Harding has sent to Congress an estimate for a deficiency appropriation of over $23,000,000 for refunding income taxes illegally collected. This is a particularly aggravating holdover from the Wilson administration. After the Republicans have lowered the tax burden and cut expenditures to the bone to make them fit the decreased revenue, along comes a court decision to the effect that the Democrats collected millions of dollars in income taxes without warrant of law. Of course there is nothing to do but pay the refunds, regardless of how big a dent it may make in the annual budget. The former administration, of course, got the benefit of the illegal receipts and spent the money. Now the Republicans are not only deprived of further taxes from the same source, but must pay back the money taken in by their predecessors in office. The Republican economy program gets hit both going and coming.

COWPEAS SUPPLY BIG NEEDS OF POOR SOILS.

Lexington, Ky. — The cowpea is one of the best crops that can be grown to supply nitrogen and organic matter, the two things needed most by poor soils of Kentucky, soils and crops specialists of the College of Agriculture say. Unlike other legumes, such as alfalfa and clover, the peas make a fair growth on poor, sour soils without either limestone or other fertilizers although a light application of limestone and some phosphate fertilizer helps them make a better growth. The peas are especially valuable as a soil improvement crop because they may be seeded by being broadcasted and therefore need no cultivation.

In using the peas for soil improvement, many farmers seed them as a catch crop after wheat, oats or rye. Seeded at this late date, the crop makes considerable vine growth which is valuable for forage and fertility but which would hardly be sufficient to mature seed.

On other farms, the peas are seeded with success in the corn at the last cultivation, a bushel of seed an acre being sufficient in this case. Some farmers drill the peas in rows between the corn, this method requiring less seed and therefore being advisable when seed prices are high.

The nitrogen gathered by a ton of peas is worth about $8 on the basis of the economical cost of nitrogen, the specialists point out. Also the hay obtained from the peas is satisfactory feed for all classes of livestock. When the manure resulting from the feeding of the peas is returned to the soil, 20 to 30 pounds of additional nitrogen is added for each ton of peas grown.

DRAINAGE OF FARM LANDS GETTING ADDED ATTENTION.

Lexington, Ky. — With the decrease in the cost of tile, Kentucky farmers this year have shown more interest in the drainage of their fields than they have in any one of the past three or four years, according to Earl G. Welch, farm engineering specialist of the College of Agriculture. In line with this marked interest twelve demonstrations have been arranged by the college extension division on a many farms in eight different counties of the state to point out the value of drainage to interested persons, he said.

Warren, Madison, Rockcastle and Carroll counties each have two such demonstrations while Muhlenberg, Hart, Webster and Jefferson counties each have one. Additional demonstrations probably will be arranged in co-operation with farmers in other counties in the near future.

"It is impossible to bring soil up to the highest state of fertility without good drainage," Mr. Welch pointed out in speaking of the projects. "When land is poorly drained or not drained at all, every quality necessary for a fertile soil is either wholly or partially destroyed. Poor drainage lowers the availability of all the plant food elements by preventing the proper circulation of air through the soil and prevents good structure characterized by the 'crumbiness' that is necessary for easy working of the soil and the development of plant root systems. It also prevents the proper decomposition of organic matter and the consequent formation of compounds of nitrogen and other elements which are available as plant food."

"Heaving, or freezing out of winter crops, also is favored by poor drainage. If poorly drained land has a slope, it washes more than soil that has good under drainage for the obvious reason that more water must be carried away by surface drainage. Many sloping lands have poor under drainage. A striking characteristic of poorly drained soil is a tight, whitish or grayish subsoil, often containing brown or rust colored spots. The installation of tile drainage is the only remedy that can be applied to such soils."

KENTON FARMER KILLS SON AND SUICIDES.

C. B. Brooks, 65, a farmer on Hands pike, Scotts Station, seven miles back of Covington, shot and killed his son, James L. Brooks, 30, and then killed himself Monday morning.

Before he put an end to his own life the elder Brooks attempted to shoot his wife and daughter-in-law, but missed them.

Father and son had engaged in an argument over the management of their farm.

SOME FORMS OF GAS STOVES ARE A MENACE TO HEALTH.

Some solid-top gas stoves without a flue connection are a menace to health and do not even possess the advantage of increased economy in gas consumption. The Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce has been investigating the principles involved in the designing of gas stoves and burners and has found that some devices which are being sold to the public as "gas savers" are in reality very dangerous articles.

One scheme which it is understood is in quite general use is to place over an ordinary gas stove designed with a grid top and without a flue, a solid metal top covering the whole area of the stove. The use of such an arrangement is said to give a larger heating surface, so that articles can be heated although not directly over the burner. Practical tests have shown that the heat is insufficient to do any cooking at all except directly over the burner and even over the burner it takes twice as long to boil a kettle of water as over an ordinary open top. The higher this closed top is above the flame the less dangerous it will be from the point of view of generating poisonous gases, but the greater this distance is made, the less will be the heating effect.

The Bureau work shows that the main result of using any device of this kind is to cut down the heating efficiency and to produce large quantities of carbon monoxide, an extremely poisonous gas.

The Bureau wishes to gather as much information as possible about this whole problem. It requests users of these solid tops to write to the department of Commerce concerning records secured. Address the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., attention of the Gas Engineering Section.

Portland, Indiana.—"I was troubled with irregularity and constipation and would often have to lie down because of pain. One Sunday my aunt was visiting us and she said her girls took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well, so mother said she guessed she would let me try it. It is doing me good and I praise it highly. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial." —STELLA NEWTON, R. R. 8, Portland, Indiana.

Mothers—You should carefully guard your daughter's health. Advise her of the danger which comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, or overworking. Do not let her overstudy.

If she complains of headache, pains in back or lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, give her careful attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for your daughter to take, as it is especially adapted to relieve just such symptoms. Remember! It contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in safety."

Mrs. Ingram was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital, where she was said to be resting well. The machine was demolished.

In 15 Southern States 14,690 houses were screened against flies and mosquitoes last year as a result of the efforts of home demonstration agents, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. Similar demonstrations and other measures for fly and mosquito control will be used again this year in parts of the country where flies and mosquitoes abound and screening of the houses is not a common practice.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeannie Price

New York. — The most valuable piece of printed matter in the world is a turkey away in a New York public library. It is a folio leaf, badly printed in Spanish, yellow and worn, but it would bring a price up in the hundreds of thousands of dollars if it ever should be placed on the market, say the experts. It is the earliest published announcement of Christopher Columbus' discovery of America. Columbus sent it as a postscript to his diary of the voyage to Luis Santangel, chancellor of the household of Aragon, who had it copied in print. This leaf is the printed copy of that postscript. It was lost for 400 years and then, in the last century, discovered in a library at Milan. It was purchased in 1891 by James Lenox, an American, who later sold it to Henry E. Huntington, its present owner.

Improved ways of making women beautiful— or making the LOOK beautiful — are taking such an important place in life and competition that the fortunate discoverers of them are granting year licenses for their use by other people. It's as if the author of a book should have such power that book sellers would pay him for a year's license to sell his book. There are, I should say nearly a hundred beauty shops in Manhattan that are declaring to the world in large placards that they have the license for the year 1922 for the use of the Lanol method of permanent waving, for instance. It seems that when Mr. Nestle, who first introduced that blessing to straight-haired women — the permanent wave — perfected this particular new process, he achieved another triumph in the beauty field, inasmuch as it makes one's hair naturally wavy, rather than just waving it, and does away with the long process of high heat formerly necessary in permanent waving. Now this was sufficiently important, for many reasons, for this "licensing" method to be put into effect, and it marks an interesting point in the place of beautifying in the life of business.

What would seem to be the most important business and professional association yet formed in New York was organized the other night by 200 of our leading citizens. It is the Civitan Club, a branch of the International Association of Civitan Clubs, which has at present 70 branches in this country and is taking steps to organize in England and France. The object is to organize men prominent in the activities of the community to be "builders of good citizenship." Lloyd Griscom presided at the first meeting, and the committee in charge consists of such men as the Right Rev. Herbert Shipman, Suffragan Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, Elliot C. Bacon, Col. Henry M. Bankhead, Parmely W. Herrick, Sam A. Lewisohn, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., and Rev. Charles W. Parkhurst. The Civitan clubs are made up on the principle of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, having one member from each profession or sub-division of a profession or branch of business. They work for closer international relations for the country as well as for civic improvement in their own communities. Among other things, the Civitan Club will provide international forums for exchange of authentic information on world problems.

A new York girl is to become the Countess of Carnarvon, if all goes well. She is Catherine Wendell, daughter of Jacob Wendell, Jr., the "millionaire actor," and she is about a wed Lord Portchester, of England, which means that she will in time have the Carnarvon title. It is a particularly interesting title, born in one of the most interesting bits of English history, the time of Edward I in the thirteenth century. The Carnarvon castle is second in England in beauty and strength and Edward II was born in that stronghold. It is a family rich in tradition that this New York girl is marrying into.

WORK THAT TELLS
Plenty of It Has Been Done Right Here in Maysville.

To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine you must investigate its work. Doan's Kidney Pills stand this test, and plenty of proof exists right here in Maysville. People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders, now give confirmed testimony—declare the results have lasted. How can any Maysville suffer longer doubt the evidence?

Mrs. W. A. Schatzmann, 605 East Second street, Maysville, gave the following statement November 15, 1916: "From the benefit I have derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills I have every reason to recommend them to anyone. Whenever my kidneys have been irregular in action or I have suffered with a weakness or lameness through the small of my back I have used a box or so of Doan's and they have always proven sufficient to cure the complaint quickly."

On November 22, 1920, Mrs. Schatzmann said: "Doan's Kidney Pills certainly do all that is claimed for them. I recommend them again as I did before when I publicly endorsed them in 1916. Doan's have made a lasting cure for me."

Miss Gertrude Boesche, a stenographer in a Wall street brokerage office, is chief of the only feminine fire brigade in the world. It is the Women's Volunteer Fire Department of Hillsdale, N. J. Miss Boesche is said to be the most expert manipulator of the fire hose in the state of New Jersey.

REASONS OF LOSS IN STOCK SHIPMENTS FOUND AT POINTS OF SHIPPING.

Lexington, Ky. — Heavy losses resulting each summer from injury, death and shrinkage in shipments of livestock are caused largely by improper methods of handling the animals at shipping points, marketing specialists at the College of Agriculture say. Anything which adds to the comfort of animals in transit diminishes the danger of losses, their suggestions on shipping point care.

"Before having animals placed in them, cars should be cleaned carefully and bedded with sand or some other similar bedding, the use of these being preferable to straw, sawdust and shavings," D. G. Card, one of the specialists said. "Stock will reach the market in better condition if fed the usual amount of dry feed instead of being fed excessively just before shipping. Clubs, whips and poles should be eliminated as far as possible in loading animals as the use of these causes bruises and a consequent loss of meat."

"About twenty-two 1,000-pound steers may be loaded safely in a standard 36-foot car," he said. Danger of losses may be reduced by partitioning off bulls, vicious animals with horns, calves and cows with calves. Cattle fed on dry feeds a day or two previous to shipment will reach market in better condition than those allowed to fill up on water and grass.

From 80 to 100 hogs depending upon their size may be shipped in a single deck standard 36-foot car, from 16,000 to 17,000 pounds making a good carload in hot weather. In summer the bedding for hogs should be drenched thoroughly with water and in extremely hot weather from five to 800 pounds of ice should be broken up and placed on the floor of the car or hung up in sacks. It is best to give them dry feed before shipping instead of filling them with water and will

as is often the case.
From 125 to 15 lambs may be loaded safely in a single deck standard 36-foot car.

HOGS DON'T SWEAT — MUST HAVE SHADE.

Hogs are non-sweating animals and unless they are provided with protection in the form of shade or water for wallowing purposes, they suffer heavily from heat during the hot summer months, livestock men say. Many farmers are using concrete wallowing tanks successfully in keeping their animals cool while others have found shade to be the most practical form of relief on their farms. In either case, it is necessary to provide the animals with plenty of clear drinking water in order to keep down the suffering from heat most effectively.

If there are no trees in the pasture to provide shade, a good shelter from the sun may be constructed by setting short posts in the ground and building a roof of light boards over these. The boards should be nailed down to prevent their being blown away by the wind. If the owner wished the building for permanent shade, rafters can be set up and the structure made more complete.

A shed-roof type of building 14 feet long and five and one-half feet high in front sloping down to three and one-half feet high in the rear has given satisfactory results on the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station farm, swine specialists of the station say. No sides are put on the building as free circulation of air is desired. When concrete wallowing tanks are used in keeping hogs cool, a small amount of oil should be placed in the water to keep the animals free from lice. Care should be taken to see that wallows of all kinds are kept clean.

SENATOR HALE WINS MAINE NOMINATION

Portland, Me., June 20. — Senator Frederick Hale, Republican, without making a personal campaign, won an easy victory in the state primaries yesterday. The vote cast for him was larger than the total for his two opponents, former Congressman Frank E. Guernsey, and former State Senator Howard Davies, and his plurality over Guernsey was nearly 20,000. Davies ran a poor third. Governor Percival P. Baxter, Republican, was renominated by a plurality of 25,000 over John P. Deering, with Leon F. Higgins trailing.
